What's been your most meaningful project?

"I was fortunate to travel to Vietnam this past January with the nonprofit group Interplast. Their job is to help rebuild faces around the world and my job on this trip was to document their work. One day I was down in the ward photographing some of the patients and this beautiful little angel grabbed my arm as I was walking by her bed. I turned to her and her hand fell into mine. Neither one of us said anything, but it's amazing what you can say with just a smile. It's one of the best moments of my career and one of the best moments of my life."

EDITORS' CHOICE

ADRIAN & LOBES

Dynamic Duo

Educators, consultants, volunteers, activists, public intellectuals and community leaders, Judy Adrian and Carol Lobes have significant individual accomplishments. Their work together is special, too. As co-directors of the grassroots citizen dialogue and action-based Center for Democracy in Action, they have facilitated numerous community conversations including Race and Media Forums, and have been staffing Dane County Executive Falk's bold alcohol abuse awareness and prevention effort. And their work in Meadowood has been truly remarkable, bringing together residents, property owners and renters, families and adult residents to strengthen and nurture this important community. The scope of their work, and their success, is a tribute to their skills, strengths, values and powerful and profound humanity. No Best of Madison should be without them both. NH
